or measures such as I have already mentioned, will be called up in September.

The Foreign Relations Committee will begin its hearings on the SALT II Treaty on July 9 and will have the 4 weeks of July and 1 or 2 weeks in September, if it needs them. The Armed Services Committee will begin its hearings on the treaty on July 23. It will have 2 weeks in July and will have 1 week at least in September, a few more days. I have asked the chairmen and the ranking members of those committees to have the reports available on the SALT Treaty for Senators by September 25, which, allowing for the 3-day rule, would permit the treaty then to be eligible for callup by October 1.

So what I am doing now is attempting, as well as I can at this point, to lay out for the Members kind of an overview of the work which is ahead of us, and I do this to indicate that we have a very full platter, that Senators should count on Friday sessions and Saturday sessions, especially in July. Come September, I should think that there would be no doubt about Friday sessions and possibly some Saturday sessions. Once we get on the treaty I would imagine we will have Saturday sessions there.

That is about it.

Mr. BAKER. Will the Senator yield, Mr. President?

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Yes.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. President, I am grateful to the majority leader for his advice on the agenda for the Senate for much of the balance of this year. I believe we are about to adjourn for the Fourth of July period. It is my understanding that the distinguished majority leader is about to embark on an important trip, an official visit to the Soviet Union. This could not come at a more propitious time than it does, on the eve of hearings before the Foreign Relations Committee on this treaty.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude and appreciation to the majority leader for agreeing to make this commitment of his time—free time is a precious commodity in our lives—to make this commitment of his free time to travel to the Soviet Union to speak with officials of that country, to put him and indeed the entire Senate in a better position to discharge our duty and responsibility in connection with our constitutional role to advise and consent the ratification of this treaty.

May I wish him well on that trip. I hope it will be a pleasant undertaking. I am sure it will be a difficult and arduous task. I send with him my good wishes.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, the distinguished minority leader is very gracious and kind to express his good wishes. I do not want to anticipate a great deal, and I do not want my colleagues to anticipate a great deal. I am simply going to do the best I can. I am grateful for the good wishes of the distinguished minority leader. He can rest assured, and I know he does, that I will do whatever I can do, realizing that there is only so much that one can do.

I am indeed grateful and I thank the Senator for his comments.

Mr. President, I want to wish to my distinguished friend (Mr. BAKER) a very pleasant and useful holiday. To Ted Stevens, the minority whip, Alan Cranston, the majority whip, and to the other Members on both sides of the aisle, I hope for them the best as we break for one of the Nation's historic holidays.

I hope that, as we enjoy this holiday with our constituents, or wherever we may be, we shall ponder the significance of the holiday and what it means to millions of Americans who have preceded us and who will come after us as well as those who have lived as contemporaries.

I also wish the same for the officers of the Senate, the pages and the people who sit, day after day, at the bar of the Senate, the Official Reporters of Debates and all who help us, may I say to the minority leader, to do our work.

I especially wish Bill Hildebrand and Howard Greene a good holiday because, to me, they have been very cooperative, very helpful, and always most courteous and considerate.

I want to wish this especially to the Chief Counsel and Staff Director of the Democratic Policy Committee, Mary Jane Checchi, and to her assistant, Abby Reed, and to Joe Stewart, my assistant on the floor, who is also Secretary for the Majority.

RECESS TO MONDAY, JULY 9, 1979

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, if there be no further business to come before the Senate, I move, in accordance with the provisions of House Concurrent Resolution 153, that the Senate stand in recess until the hour of 12 noon on Monday, July 9, 1979.

The motion was agreed to; and, at 6:52 p.m., the Senate recessed until Monday, July 9, 1979, at 12 noon.
